

SUNDAY IS REST DAY

The Fourth of a Series of Sabbath Lectures by Mr. Healy.

AN INTERESTING SERMON

At the Conclusion of a Young Man Arises to Invite All to Come to the Adventists' Tent To-Night.

About the 10th of August Elder J. R. Palmer of the Adventist faith, pitched his tent on the vacant lot which is near the Presbyterian church southwards. Nightly since that time the elder has expounded the prophecies and the gospel of the Seventh Day to all who came and attended worship in the tent. The attendance has not been large, but was sufficient to keep up interest from day to day. One of the principal doctrines of the Adventist faith is that the civilized world is keeping Sunday holy in error and that Saturday, the seventh day, is the holy day. The sect is very strict in observing Saturday therefore, but Sunday is a work day. They are not loth to give the reason for the faith that is within them and have been in certain states imprisoned and persecuted for living up to their doctrine and working on Sunday. The visitors held their meetings in this city and went the even tenor of their way in making converts, and naught disturbed the placid serenity of church circles until yesterday when a ripple appeared on the surface.

Rev. George W. Healy, who has been delivering a series of Sunday evening sermons on the Ten Commandments, reached the fourth of the course last evening and accordingly prepared a lecture upon the command of Moses, "Remember the Sabbath day."

Rev. Mr. Healy had a large congregation. He spoke very ably on his text, and very plainly too. When he had finished his talk and pronounced the benediction a young man from the tent across the way who had been an attentive listener from a rear seat, went to the front of the house and in a loud tone, invited all present who "desired to hear the other side of the Sabbath question to come to the tent and hear Brother Palmer, on to-morrow evening," which is to-night.

A summary of Rev. Mr. Healy's address is as follows:

"Six days shalt thou labor." In this text there is the command to toil, as well as to rest afterward. Jesus set his seal upon the edict, and mankind has everywhere recognized the order. Man, when placed in the garden of Eden, was there to keep the garden and not alone to enjoy it and the fruits thereof. Earth is a generous mother, but in order to supply the wants of men her resources must be developed and her products cultivated. Indolence and barbarism go hand in hand. It is a mistaken idea of the gifts of nature that the rugged, dirty mendicant must be fed because he is hungry. Men who have no one to blame for their condition but themselves, who will not work and seek in every way to avoid it. It is hard to deny a man the crumbs from the table which would be given freely to a dog, but because the applicant is a man, and not a dog is the very best of reasons for refusing to aid him in gaining a livelihood in idleness.

The Sabbath established by the end of the creative period was to establish a rest day. Christ said the Sabbath was made for man and not man for the Sabbath. The nature of man demands a rest, physicians and all authorities, even Dr. Paine, who is not accused of friendship for the Sabbath, unite in saying that nightly rest is not enough. Nature demands the rest of the seventh day. Atheist France tried to abolish Sunday by establishing the 10th day as holiday, but was unable to stem the tide of Christian civilization and Sunday still survives. All tolling creatures demand one day's rest in seven and the speaker said he was surprised that workmen do not strike for their rest on the Sabbath day as they strike for wages. Some institutions could not be closed down once in seven days, but the men could have a rest each week if they strive hard to get it.

On the first day of the week Jesus Christ the Lord of the Sabbath arose from the dead. Saturday is the Sabbath of the entombed Jesus, but Sunday is the Sabbath of the risen Lord. The apostles and early Christians kept the Lord's day.

He said that he was surprised that people who he admired so much for their zeal and earnestness should link themselves with atheists and law-breakers in attempting to break down the Sunday of the Christian world. Six things they must prove, the burden of proof is upon them before their point is established.

First, that the seventh day on which God rested was 24 hours long.

Second, that Saturday is identical with God's seventh day.

Third, that the Sabbath of Moses in Palestine is identical with Saturday in the United States. In that case Saturday, their Sabbath, ought to be 48 hours long, for Saturday on the Mississippi is Sunday on the Euphrates. If Adventists in the United States are keeping the same time that Moses kept so are the Methodists, Baptists and Presbyterians in Persia.

Fourth, that we must obey the letter of the law and not its spirit. If we must do this God has made an omission in the Bible, by leaving out of the Good Book an almanac infallible for all time.

Fifth, to give force to their arguments they must explain why Christ made resurrection day so prominent.

Sixth, why Paul appointed the first day of the week for benevolent purposes and why John was in the spirit on the Lord's day.
